DR HARRY SWATSON

I hold a BSc (Hons) in Agriculture from the University of Science and Technology, Ghana, and an MSc (cum laude) and PhD in Agricultural Science from the University of KwaZulu-Natal. I've also completed various development and training courses both locally and abroad. With extensive experience in agriculture, research, development, extension, and training, I've held roles including Acting Principal and FET Manager at Cedara College of Agriculture, and researcher at the University of Venda. I currently serve on several committees, including the African Poultry Network.
